Allen Bryan and his tall red thermometer became familiar symbols in our drive toward expansion.

A bit of rest now and then makes homework and teachers seem a little less bothersome for some students!

The Pattern

The whirl of studies deposits eager pupils in various geometric designs around our campus.

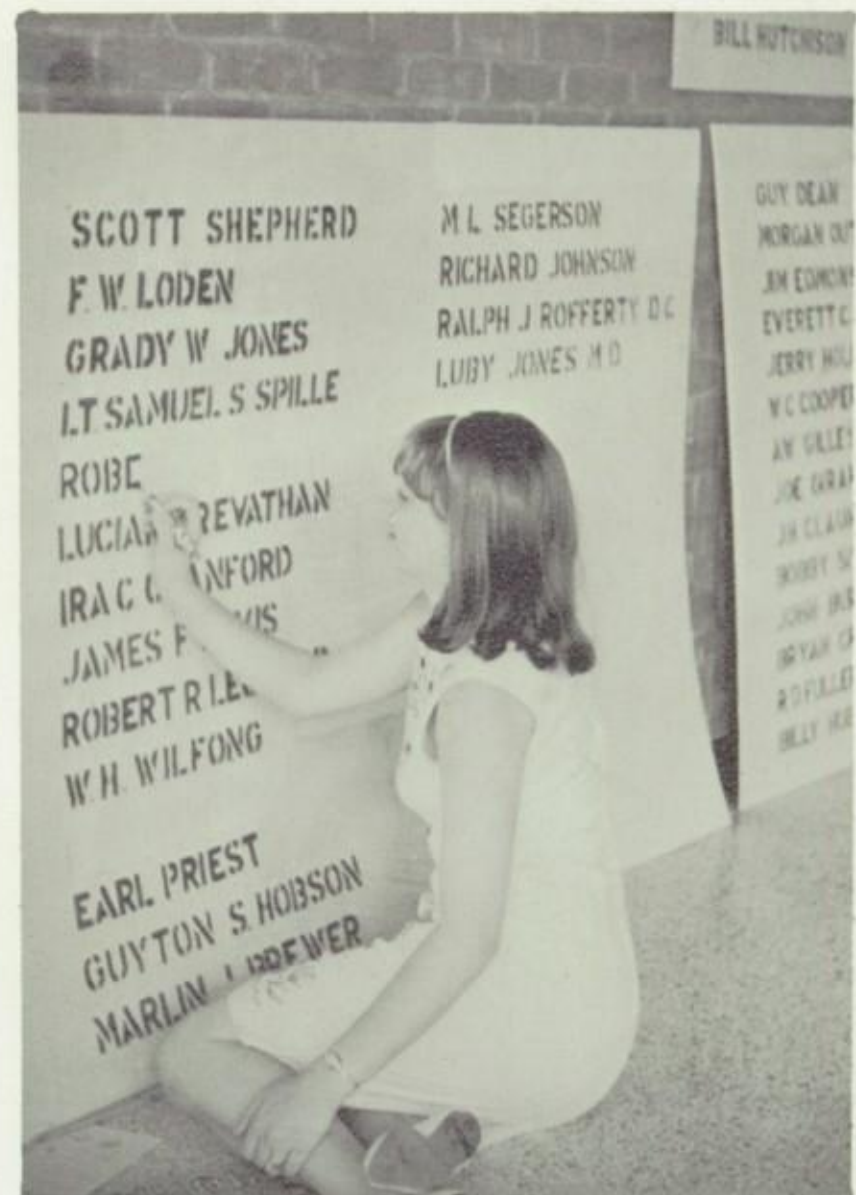

A day at M.H.A. begins with the arrival (usually at the last minute) of the students at the parking lot on the hill.

Students then converge and proceed toward the building and their studies.

Shaped Through Daily
 Triumphs And Tragedies

One of the first official acts of the 1966-67 school year was the presentation of a new school flag to Mr. Bowle, by Lonnie Whitaker. The flag was purchased by the Senior Class.

Elevated Through Contact With

The SHIELD staff worked to raise money by selling SWIPE. However, their demonstration was noticeably disastrous.

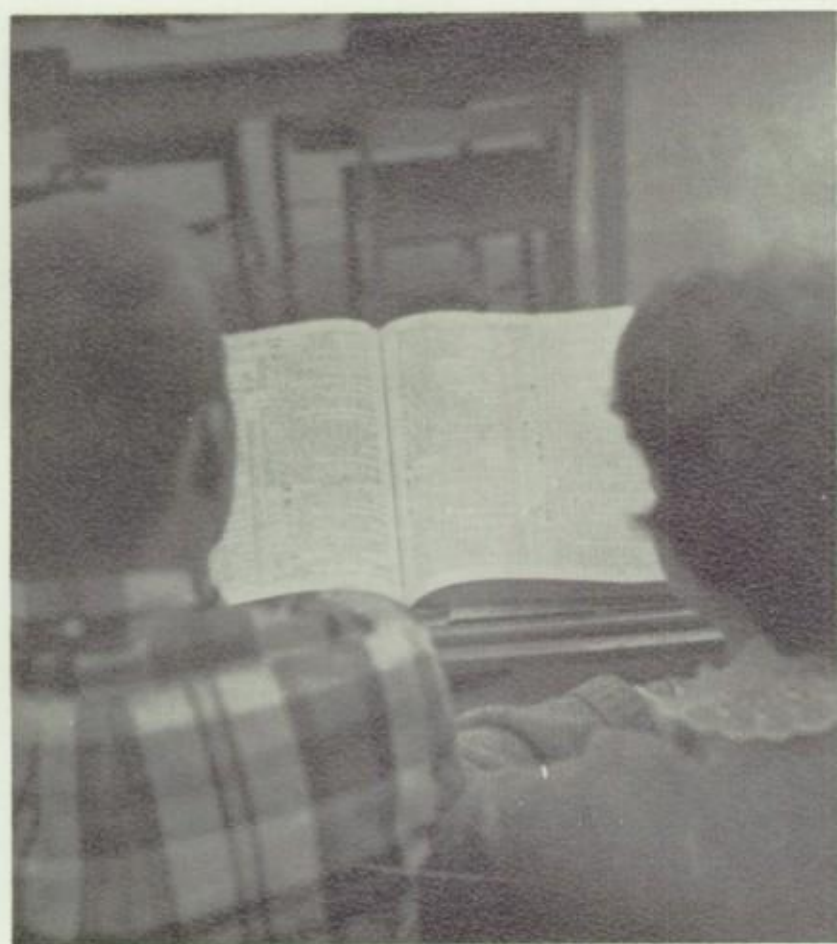

Our cheerleaders supplied the spark of enthusiasm that united the students in love and loyalty for MHA.

Our many guest speakers, such as Marshall Keeble, provided us with a constant succession of challenging thought.

God And Man

Daily chapel and Bible study inspires the students to individual study beyond the assignments given them.

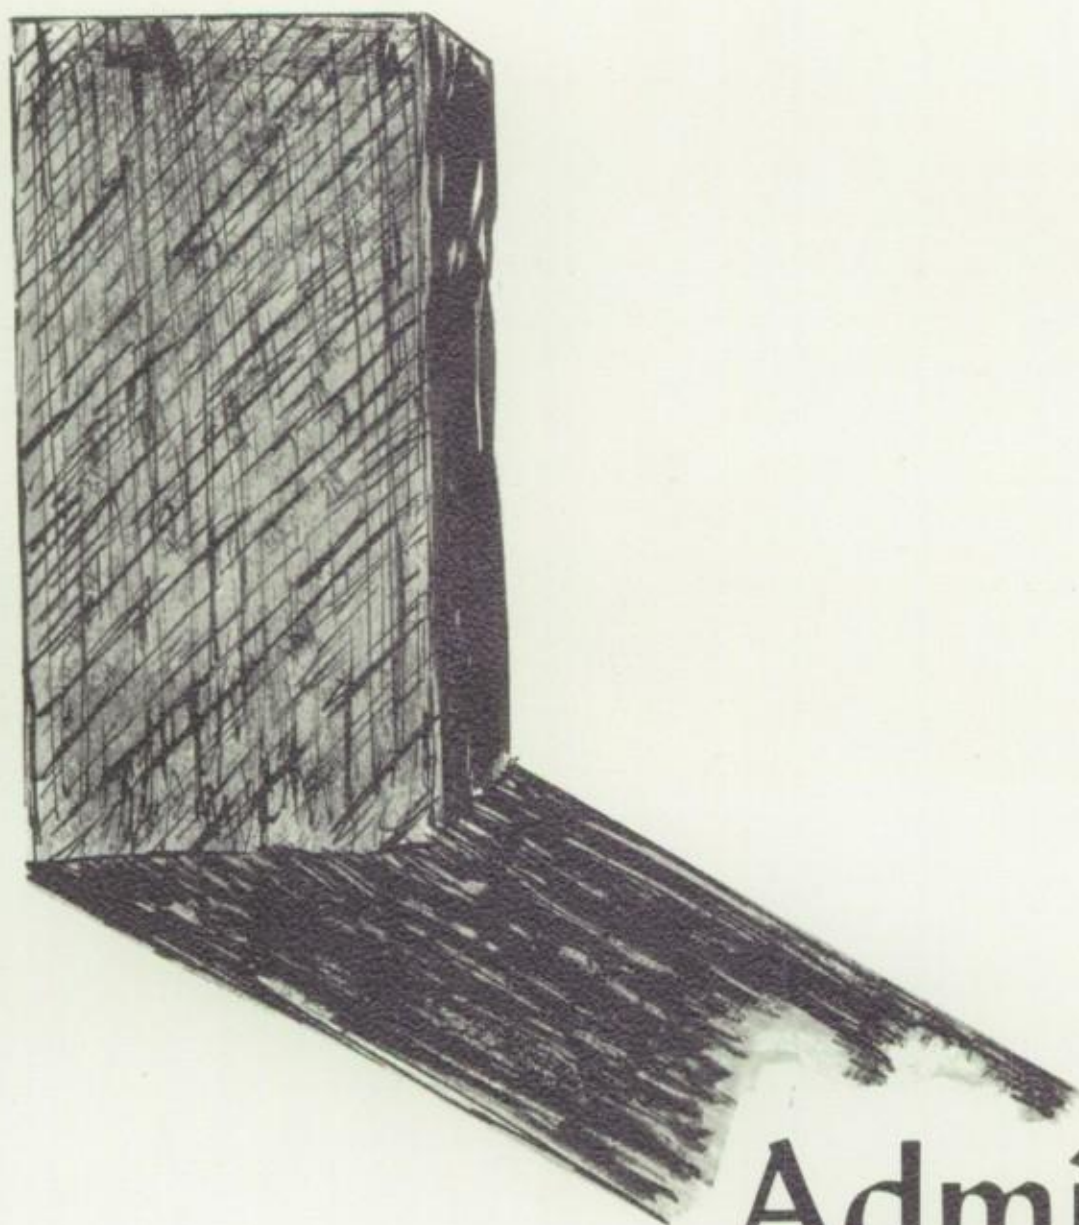

Friendships formed at Harding Academy frequently have a lasting effect, long after students finish their years at Harding.

Administration

The Administration provides the strength and counsel necessary for channeling our growth into useful patterns.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES: Seated, left to right: R. Fuller, J. T. Cone, C. L. Ganus, Jr., H. Karnes, T. J. McReynolds, G. S. Benson, G. Roberts. Standing: F. L. Howard, J. A.

Thompson, F. Alexander, M. Peebles, Dr. H. Cogburn, L. Green. These men shoulder the responsibility of making policy decisions for Harding College and the Academy.

Able Leadership Guides Harding In Expansion

Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., who has completed his first year as president of Harding college, has shown continued interest in the Academy. On May 9, 1966, he spoke at at opening exercises for the Expansion Program Barbeque. He also participated in the Harding Academy of Whitehaven's Salute to Freedom Parade in October.

Dr. Ganus holds membership in Alpha Chi, national honor society. He often lectures to audiences throughout the country in Americanism and citizenship forums. His work to serve the needs of the entire Harding family is readily seen as is the progress of our school.

Responsible Leadership Marks Administration

As Superintendent, Mr. Bowie, worked tirelessly to promote the Expansion Program and Harding's stature as an educational institution.

Six years ago Mr. Harold Bowie graciously accepted the position of being the Superintendent of Harding Academy. Mr. Bowie devoted many hours of hard work and devotion to maintain the name of Harding Academy as it stands today. Under his leadership, many improvements have been made and the school has doubled its enrollment. His untiring efforts have helped much in the progress of Christian education. He has always set forth an example of love for those associated with him. His determination, zeal, and long hours of work have been for our benefit. He has watched Harding grow and now his dreams are approaching fulfillment as the new additions to our campus are already being constructed.

Mr. Williams' third year as principal of Cherry Road Elementary was marked by a growing faculty and an increased enrollment.

Whitehaven's program has been strengthened by Mrs. Agnes Drewry, Principal. She has brought both experience and a keen insight into the problems of teaching.

Mr. Alley, High School Principal, gave able direction to both faculty and students while coping with the complexities of crowded rooms and class schedules.

SENIORS

Seniors of '67

Favorites are Hal Gates and Paula Puckett.

The Senior Class of 1967 enjoyed a typically unique type of mania known as Senioritis. It is vastly contagious, and strikes once a year, lasting roughly from September to May. This year it claimed forty victims from Harding Academy. The malady revealed itself in several activities throughout the year.

A Valentine-theme dinner party given by Duane Priest and John Scott launched a fun-filled round of second semester parties, climaxed by the traditional Senior Progressive Dinner.

A series of projects to raise money for the Senior Trip was also held. Among these were an ample variety of industrious exertions, ranging from Singing Valentines to Saturday Car Washes.

As banquets and exams signalled the approach of Commencement, and the final departure from MHA, Seniors united in a last display of strength and potential; then June arrived and found them gone their separate ways, carrying poignant memories of their high school careers.

Along with English projects, deadlines, ordering invitations, and graduation practice, Seniors enjoy a break

JUNIORS

Juniors: Class rings, $$$,

Under the sponsorship of Mr. David Simpson and Mr. Bill Srygley, this year's Junior class proved to be a hard-working group. Wherever they were seen: in class, rushing across campus, on the football field, in chorus or in any other club activity, they were always seen representing Harding Academy and their class quite well.

The everpresent money problems have prodded these students into some hard work. A very successful cake sale was held during the half-time of the annual Faculty-Varsity game. They sold vanilla extract and sponsored a fellowship dinner late in January. After working during free periods and after school, they were finally rewarded for their hard work at the Junior-Senior Banquet which was held in May.

Harding Sophomores, with the desire of pressing on, showed themselves capable and eager of reaching higher goals. They proved themselves able to handle the demands of high school life.

Sponsored by Mrs. Ross and Mr. Sheumaker, they showed their desire to help others by contributing food and toys at Christmas. Any time help was needed to raise money or help around the school, the sophomores were there. They showed their interest in the school by participating in football, basketball, chorus, annual, paper, and other school activities.

FRESHMEN

Enthusiastic Ninth Grade

Freshman Favorites: Rickey Betts and Glenda Chambliss

Always on the move, the freshman Class pushed on toward graduation. Their new role as high school students was readily and enthusiastically accepted. With both hard work and fun, the ninth grade managed to come through with a good year. With the addition of a ninth grade basketball team, the class was given a better opportunity to participate in sports. They were well represented in athletics and other school activities such as chorus, speech and debate, annual staff, paper staff, and Chi Alpha Sigma.

The ninth grade had the distinction of being the largest class in both junior and senior high school. They were sponsored by Mr. Bob McConnell and Mr. Ike Hall. The first party of the year was a hayride to Shelby Forest late in November. Another party was held late in January.

The main money-raising project of the year was the sale of license plates which read, "Harding Academy Lions".

EIGHTH GRADE

While Finishing Junior High

Eighth grade favorites: Janet McCarter and Dennis Moore.

Having completed the years of junior high school, the eighth grade knows what to expect in the coming years in high school. This year's class consisted of forty-six members, with Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Favara as sponsors.

The eighth grade was well represented on the athletic field, in football as well as basketball. There were also five cheerleaders from the class to cheer their boys to victory.

The year began with a bang when the class enjoyed a rollicking party at the DoReAnn Ranch in Germantown. They rode horses, roasted wieners, and had a hay-ride. Ending the year was a festive outing to Jenny Lipsey's farm in the spring.

SEVENTH GRADE

They Enter A New Life

Junior High rather than being new, exciting, different and frightening proved to be new, exciting, different and FUN for the Seventh Grade this year. With a class of over sixty, everything was FUN. Fun to us was going to football games, basketball games, chorus parties and pep rallies. With three seventh grade girls as cheerleaders, we had that spirit.

At our Christmas party we had games, refreshments, and a talent show.

Even after a full day of math, science, history, Bible and P.E. we had energy to spare. We won our place by hard work and participation in many school projects.

Some members work in the library, while others work in the principal's or superintendent's office aiding the secretaries. Membership may also include students who grade papers and those who help in the science labs.

The highlight of the year is the annual Christmas party when students and sponsors exchange gifts and enjoy refreshments.

The Key Club, which includes boys in grades nine through twelve, is primarily a service organization, nationally sponsored by the Kiwanis International. Members are chosen according to the initiative and interest they show through participation in certain school activities. The aim of the club is to build leaders through service to others. During football season the Key Club members run the concession stand, sell megaphones, distribute game schedules, and clean up the field after the games. During basketball season they have similar activities. One of the daily activities of the club is to collect song books after chapel.

Special projects and activities during the year include financing the annual Junior High Athletic Banquet and co-sponsoring Career Day in the spring with the National Honor Society.

Weekly meetings of the club are used to discuss current topics and to prepare cases and refutations. Debate Club members take part in tournaments in Memphis and various parts of the South. One of the main events in which the club participates is the Southern Speech Association tournament, held in the spring. The Debate Club sponsors an intramural forensics tournament in the spring for the school.

Man And God Through Song

The A Cappella Chorus is one of the most active organizations in the school. Under the direction of Mr. Bob Sullins, the chorus represents Harding more than any other club. Numerous programs are held throughout the year; the first is always presented before the student body. In February the A Cappella began a series of Wednesday night concerts for church congregations throughout the Memphis area. The theme of the concerts this year was "Mission Work." The climax of the year was the spring chorus trip. This year the chorus toured through the Ozarks. The A Cappella's last official activity is the singing of the recessional after graduation.

The director of this group is certainly well qualified. Besides singing in the Harding College A Cappella Chorus for four and a half years, he has also sung in several operas.

The Junior High Chorus is composed of students in the seventh and eighth grades who enjoy music and singing as a group. The chorus provides a rewarding experience in choral work and also builds musical talent.

The chorus, directed by Mr. Bob Sullins, learned a variety of hymns and sacred songs, which they presented to school groups and other associations.

The group contained a sextet composed of Carol Beasley, Nancy Daugherty, Dayle Higgs, Susan Baker, Paula Jackson and Charlotte Nabors.

The Lionettes is an organization composed of girls in the ninth through the twelfth grades who are interested in promoting school spirit. Members must be approved by the faculty and must also maintain a high academic standing. Cheerleaders are automatically members.

The purpose of the Lionettes is to encourage all phases of school spirit and better Harding. The Lionettes sit together at all games and pep rallies to assist the cheerleaders in leading chants and yells.

The Lionettes sponsor the homecoming ceremonies and an informal party, which is held after the game each year. This year the party was held in the cafeteria and was enjoyed by all present at the function.

The Student Council was one of the most active organizations on campus. The fourteen-member council was led by John Scott this year. The officers and members are elected each spring to serve the following year.

It functions as an organization serving not only the school, but the community as well. The Student Council serves as a medium between the students and the administration and directs projects and activities of the student body. Again this year the Student Council participated in the annual Teen-Agers March for Leukemia and was very successful. The Council provides a suggestion box for the students and has charge of the noon prayer in the cafeteria. The Council is also an active member of the Memphis Association of Student Councils.

The Future Homemakers of America got an early start this year in their activities by inducting a large number of new members into the club. Both a formal and an informal initiation were held.

The F.H.A. members are girls in senior high school who have taken at least one year of Home Economics. The F.H.A. is a national organization whose purpose is to produce good homemakers and promote international good will.

In December the F.H.A. held a Christmas party at the White Station fellowship hall. A fun-filled night and a very good time were the reports of all who attended.

The F.H.A. at Harding is sponsored by two able and capable teachers, Mrs. Carolyn Batey, Jr. and Miss Margaret Oliver.

N. H. S. Promotes Scholarship

The National Honor Society is an honorary organization composed of juniors and seniors with at least a B+ average. Other qualifications for membership are: approval by the faculty, outstanding character, and qualities of leadership.

This year the N.H.S. sponsored two major projects. At Christmas they co-sponsored a food drive with the Student Council to collect food to fill baskets for needy families. Members also started a program which renders invaluable service to students. They stay several afternoons a week during the school year to help other students with their studies. They try to help the students better understand any academic subject with which they are having difficulty.

The N.H.S., which is sponsored by Mr. Charles Sheumaker, was established to inspire and reward academic excellence and good citizenship.

Annual Staff Works

Some of the annual staff have been known to have split personalities. The chief, Miss Howard is no exception.

Behind the locked door of the annual staff room, the members of the staff hurried to meet deadlines and still had fun.

Many sounds could be heard if an eavesdropper listened in. The frantic echoes of the staff's writing, typing erasing and re-writing overruled the disappointed sighs of Helen Howard, the chief, and harried sponsors.

The Shield Staff met every Thursday at fourth period, discussing things needing to be done and deadlines to be met.

A casual passerby might hear "Where's a ruler?" "Guess what Miss Potter, one of my pictures is missing!" "Who has been messing up my shelf?"

The annual staff does not compete with other teams for victories as in athletics, but with themselves for an improved annual.

Hard work and innocent fun are combined by the entire staff to produce the SHIELD.

These students and others work together to produce a better LION of '67.

The LION staff, under the direction of Louise Kist, editor, and Mrs. S. D. Favara, sponsor, has worked to improve the school newspaper, the LION.

Under the direction of Louise Kist, editor, and Mrs. S. D. Favara, sponsor, the LION has become one of school's most successful publications. Assisting the editor and sponsor was a hardworking, capable and efficient staff made up of students in the ninth through twelfth grades.

In October the first edition of the paper was published. In that issue the Homecoming Court was announced as well as the staffs of the LION and SHIELD. Regular monthly editions followed the October issue. Many different topics were featured in the LION including sports, editorials, and straight news stories of events at Harding Academy. Many hours of study and after-school work on the part of the staff were required to make the paper a success. To supplement their knowledge of journalism, the members of the paper staff attended the annual clinic, sponsored by the Commercial Appeal, which covers all phases of newspaper work.

Hardwork and selfless dedication give way to horse-play as they near their deadline.

Last minute check-ups of layout and copy often prevent embarrassing mistakes by the printer.

Brings M.H.A. The News

One of the many projects of Miss Oliver's Seventh grade Bible Class was providing Juvenile Court Ward, Charlotte Boikins, with a surprise Christmas party and a new wardrobe to take to her new foster home.

Precision Of Math And Science

Each Harding student is instructed each day in one of many Bible classes, fitted to the needs of the students.

Each student at Harding Academy begins his day by attending Bible class. The most valuable lessons learned by all at Harding come from our daily Bible lessons.

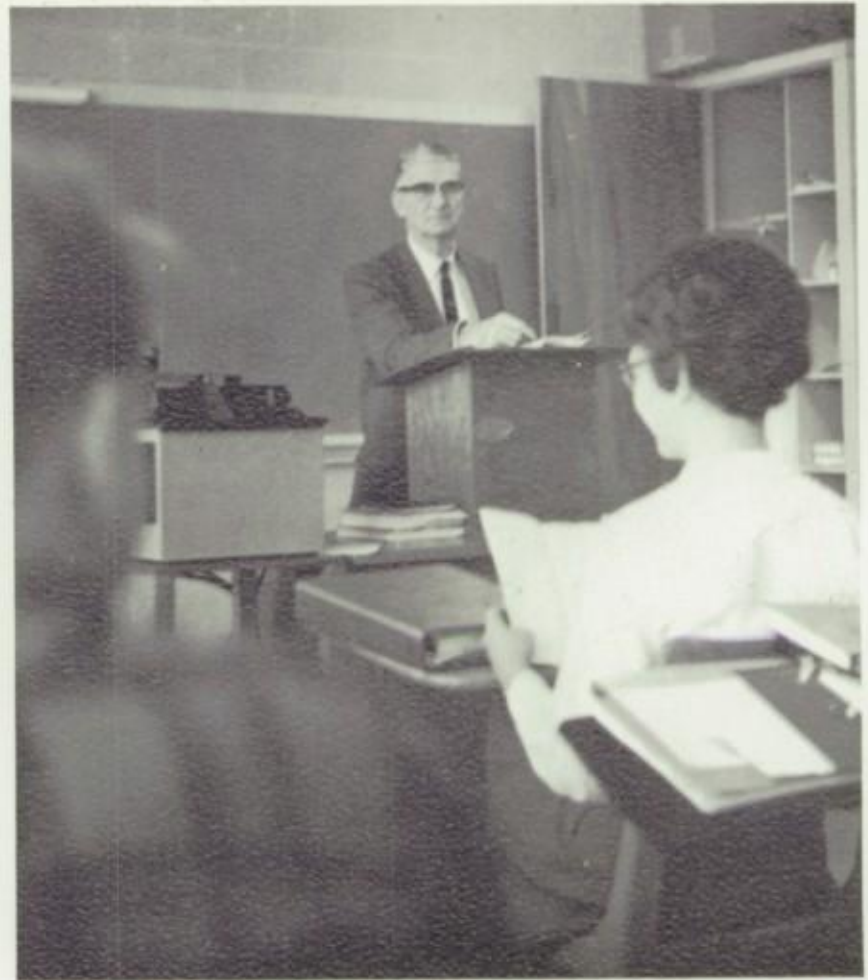

Math is an important phase of the academic world. Under Mr. Charles Sheumaker, senior high school students work to master the complicated world of equations, graphs and angles. In our modern world, to understand math helps open new doors to progress and growth. Mr. David Simpson endeavors to give junior high pupils a basic background in the workings of mathematics.

Science classes show the "how and why" of our world. Students taking chemistry and physics under Mr. Bob McConnell find fascinating and often startling explanations of the wonders of science and our universe through research and experimentation. In biology the dissection of a variety of animals enables students to understand better the wonders of life.

Miss Oliver's biology students probe the wonders of life, in this case, and embryo pig.

Mr. Dill provides junior high students with a basic understanding of math necessary to higher education.

Emphasizes Wonders Of Our World

The intricacies and complexities of using a slide rule are demonstrated clearly to befuddled and bewildered students by Mr. McConnell with the oversized slide rule in the science department.

Balancing the books proved to be no real problem to these bookkeeping students - and Mr. Diles made it fun.

Shorthand might seem like Greek to the new student but to the more advanced it later becomes a life saver when taking notes

In Home Economics classes girls get invaluable experience in cooking, sewing and other domestic skills through the instruction of Mrs. Richard Batey.

A student makes an investment in his future by entering speech class because he gains incomparable self-assurance, confidence and speaking proficiency.

Any student interested in a career in the commercial arts can get a good background by taking the business courses taught by Mr. Bob Diles. A typing course proves to be an invaluable asset for themes, reports and term papers. In bookkeeping the fundamentals of the complex system are taught. This course may be used especially in setting up any kind of business. Shorthand is the most advanced course in the business arts at Harding. Students learn a completely new way of notation that is helpful in taking notes. This course also provides a background for shorthand on a more complex level.

Speed, skill, and accuracy are the goals of Mr. Diles typing students.

Students Acquire Varied Skills

Helpful Toward Better Living

Mr. Srygley demonstrates the way to give an inspiring speech using gestures.

Student, Jerry Sutton, attempts to follow Mr. Srygley's instructions in his first speech of the year.

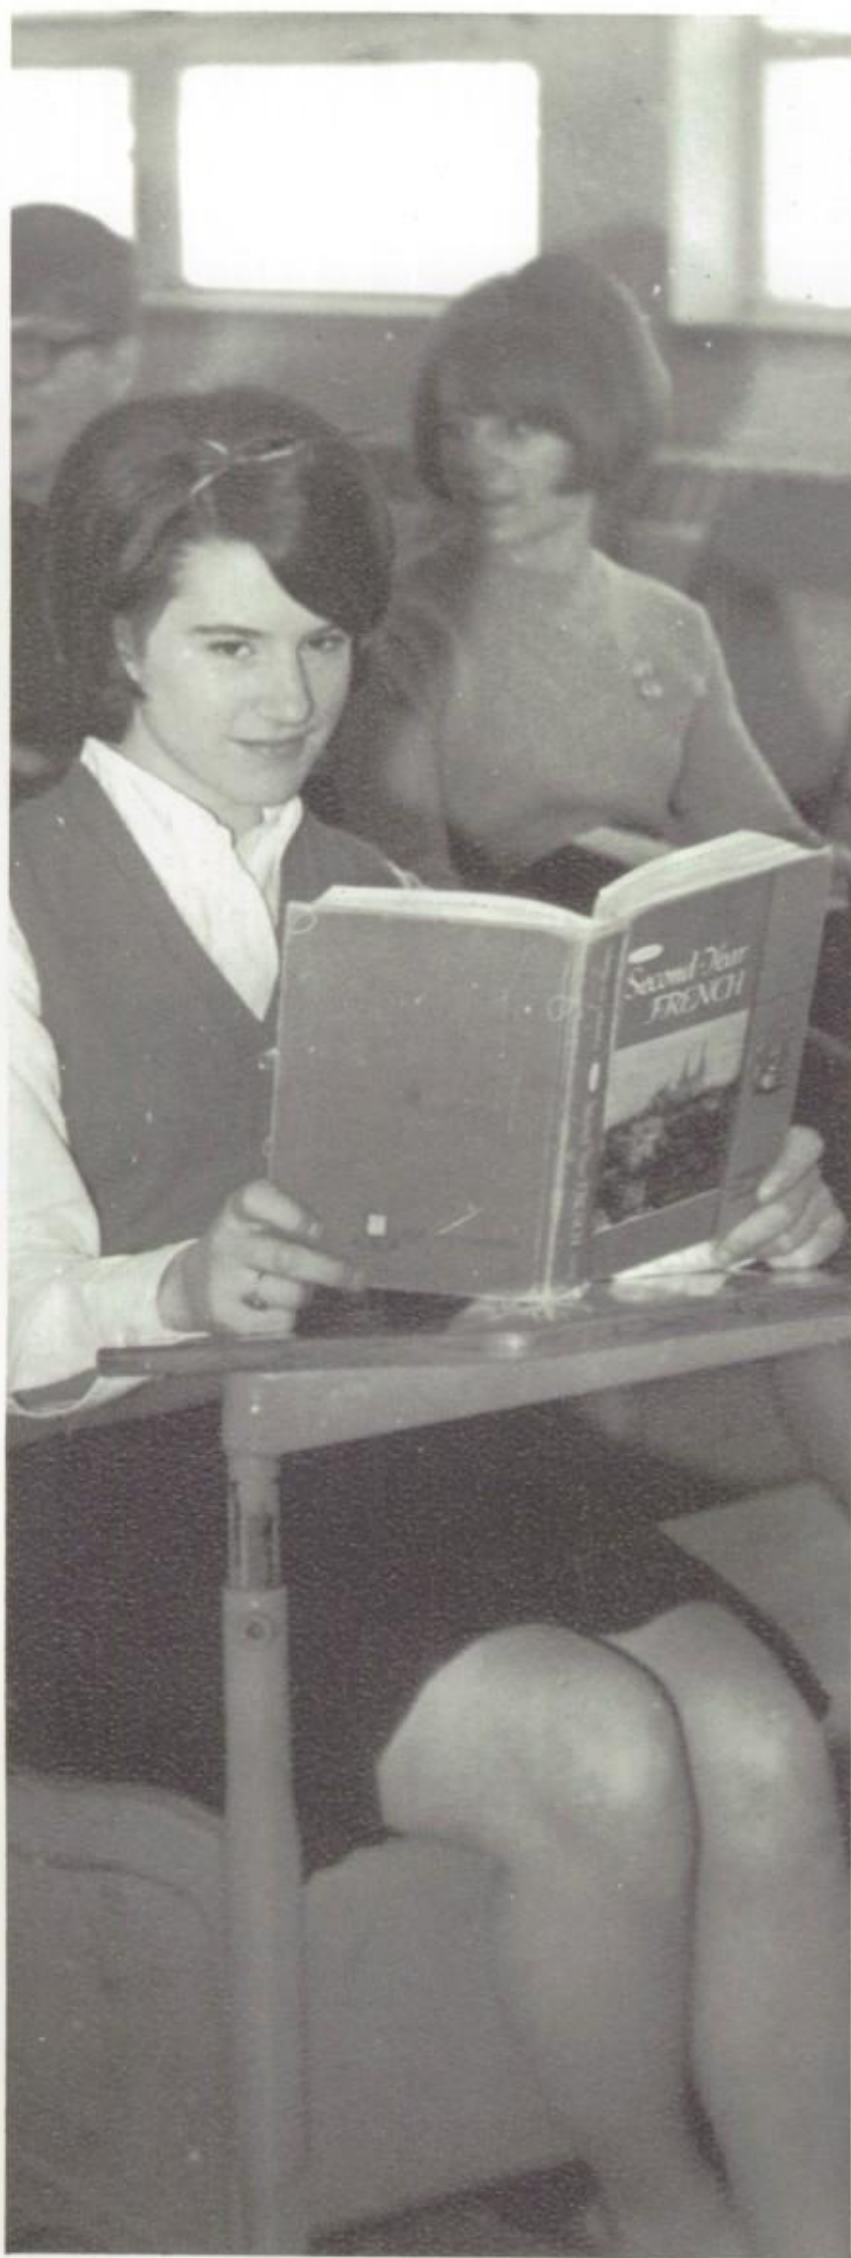

The least practical but most fun side of Home Economics classes is F.H.A. initiations each fall.

Although learning to keep their figures trim, they seemingly defeat their purpose by learning to cook.

Students who wish to gain a classical degree must take at least three years of language under the direction of Mrs. George Beasley.

In World History class topics brought up by students that are aptly displayed by films provided by Mr. Ike Hall.

Humanities

Students in language classes learn of far-away places and cultures. Language studies also provide the basis of better understanding about our own English language. These classes are taught by Mrs. George Beasley. Mr. Bob Sullins seeks to teach the fundamentals and various types of music, besides appreciation of art, in his music appreciation classes.

The art classes study the nature of beauty and styles and works of famous artists. Mr. Bill Vanderlinden, art instructor also attempts to introduce his pupils to such phases of art as sculpture and design. Literature and grammar comprise the basis of the English department at Harding Academy. Grammar is emphasized in the Jr, High grades by Miss Marie Patter and Mrs. Claude Bates, while Mrs. John Ross and Mrs. S. D. Favara introduce many of the great masterpieces of literature.

History has several classes at MHA. Mr. Hall is in charge of world history courses while Mr. Bob Alley and Miss Nelms discuss our American Heritage. "POD" explains our government structure and mechanics.

English, having been required of everyone, is a profitable course in which pupils extend their use of vocabulary as well as grammar. In literature the individual pupil discovers a new world through a variety of modern day writing linked with the grace and penmanship of European works handed down through the generations.

Courses Stress Culture Development

Attempting to master the skill of clay modeling proves to be frustrating, but fun for Art I students.

The wonderful world of color is explored and dissected by Mr. Sullins' music appreciation.

After a hard day of work, Harding students load into the bus ready to go home to do more work. Due to the increasing student body, Harding purchased a new school bus with the help of the generous people who donated Quality Stamps.

Buses And Study Hall

Frequently Harding will send student buses to basketball and football games to cheer the boys to victory.

School isn't all work and study-many activities take place after school that students participate in. One of the most popular activities is going to ball games. The school provided a student bus to nearby every away game and large numbers of students always signed the lists to go.

Lunch time is also a free period for students. While some stream into the cafeteria for lunch, others gather by the coke machines to talk and take a break from the class room routine.

During spare time, students assist Miss Potter in the library shelving and checking in and out books.

Provided with "nooks" and an air-conditioner, the study hall becomes a more enjoyable place to think through the daily assignments given.

Offer Mischievous Possibilities

In study hall, when the teacher isn't looking, students talk at the first chance they get. These students seem to find the art of studying not as necessary as that of conversation.

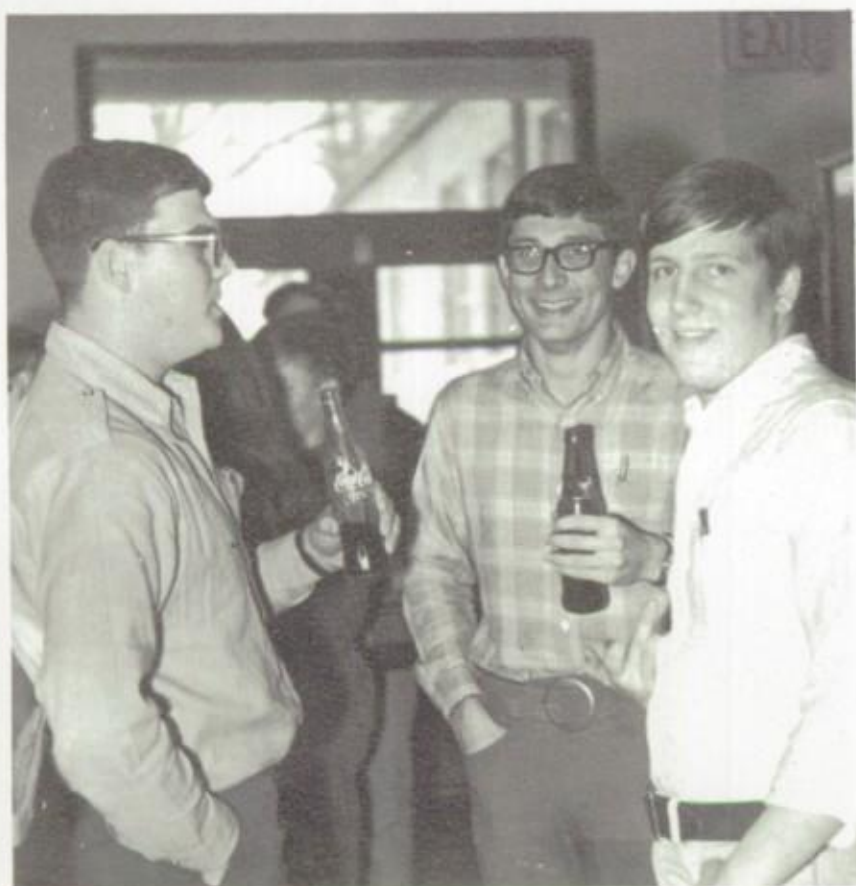

Between classes, students rush to their lockers, grab books and head full speed to classes.

The pay telephone attracts many students during the lunch period. But the most popular pastime during the lunch hour is eating. Chapel, pep rallies, speakers, and ball games are all a special part of school that are marked indelibly in our memories.

Students gather at the "pop box" to exchange big and little talk needed to be discussed.

Students who bring their lunch to school find the concession stand a "blessing in disguise."

Lunch Is A Time Of Cash, Cliques, And Chaos

Students Take Care Of Unfinished Business

Students find that the pattern on our Art teachers poncho from Mexico fits his personality Purr-fectly.

After rushing to sign the bus list students wait impatiently in line, eager to beat the tardy bell to class.

Where do all the dimes go? Students at Harding have no trouble spending theirs see for yourself.

Humor is displayed in a variety of ways at the Annual Jr.-Senior Banquet sponsored by the Juniors of Harding Academy. Presenting the class prophecies, Tim Martin succeeds in embarrassing Lonnie Whitaker and date.

At Baccalaureate services, Bro. Dailey spoke to the graduating students, their parents and friends.

Common Memories

Unite All Seniors

As the end of the year draws nigh, a close bond is formed by the graduating class of "67" as in each preceeding class. Seniors make final preparations for their futures and eagerly await results of ACT and SAT scores. The mail is filled with applications for college. Some will be disappointed but the majority will receive scholarships and joyous news.

The Junior-Senior banquet puts a finality into the separation of the class. The evening is climaxed by the reading of the Senior's will which is always good for a big laugh.

Onward down the aisle two by two marks the end of their twelve years of education and for many of them the last time they'll see each other.

Features

In Features we recognize those among us who excel in various areas of school life and will stand out in our memory.

Junior Miss Personifies Charm

Bright lights, snapping flashbulbs and stages surrounded by seeming millions of faces: these are common ingredients of any beauty pageant. There is still another: the excitement of competition. Louise Kist discovered this when she was chosen by the faculty to compete in the city Junior Miss Pageant as Harding's representative. Competing in the areas of talent, poise, personality, and physical fitness, Louise was interviewed and observed in every type of setting. Then after the long weeks of competition, it was climaxed by the pageant held in November.

Pause-pivot-turn: these were the instructions Louise followed as she walked on stage.

Harding Comes Home

*up a real sweet girl and very lucky
love,
Dad*

Homecoming Day arrived wrapped in a clear, cool, weather package-perfect football weather. The air was crisp with the scent of excitement in the air. Plans had been made for quite a while for the event and the decorators were at work early in the morning to get ready for it. Stapling, tacking, and taping were in full swing, and by the end of their work, they began to think the whole world was made to drape with crepe paper.

The real excitement, of course, lay with the Homecoming Court itself. Their tension was not revealed in the school except perhaps by the football team. When they rode out onto the field and were presented to the crowd, their happiness probably was not excelled, either.

Finally, after a victory over Gosnell, Arkansas, the team and court met and mingled with current students, parents, alumna, and friends in a celebration supper.

Teresa Brewer was crowned Homecoming Queen in the ceremonies on the evening of October seventh.

Dwarfed by the tall field lights, the girls paraded onto the field and stood with their escorts.

They reigned during the game on the throne provided by the Lionettes with the assistance of the art department.

The girls chosen by the football team were: Cindy Scott, Sophomore; Donna Rhodes, Junior; Nancy Wooten,

Miss Harding Portrays Christain Ideals

Graduating at the top of her class, Nancy Wooten, Miss Harding for 1967, displayed the elusive quality of being able to combine both beauty and brains gracefully. She demonstrated this in all of her school activities, whether it was in studies or extra-curricular projects. She served as a cheerleader for two of her high-school years, managed the financial end of the annual staff, served in several class and student body offices and still maintained a straight-A average. A later honor paid to her intellect was being announced as a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. Her intelligence and bubbling personality have made her a valued person at Harding Academy.

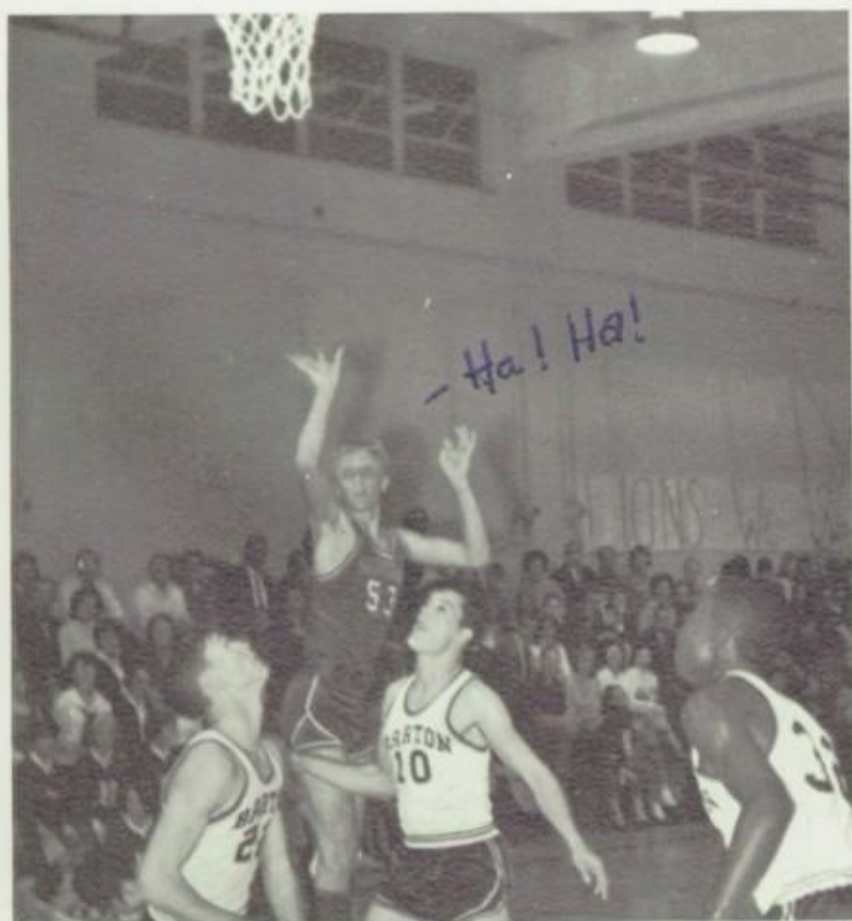

Nancy lent her voice and spirit to Harding's pep rallies and games.

Mr. Harding: Excellence In Varied Fields

At home on the basketball court as well as in the classroom, Bobby Kleier exemplified Harding's ideals academically, physically, spiritually, and socially. His membership in both the "H" Club and the National Honor Society bespoke his abilities in various phases of campus life. After playing basketball for two years, he became a co-captain his senior year. Other honors he accumulated included Sophomore Class president, delegate to Boys' State and the Citizenship Award. His work in science courses merited him the Bausch and Lomb Science Award. The sportsmanship and courtesy which he shows in every job he attempts has earned him the respect of his fellow students and teachers.

Alternates Contribute To Campus Life

David Sain and Marcia Black were voted by the student body to be the alternates to Mr. and Miss Harding in a series of runoff elections. Both have much in common. They both served in leadership capacities in class and club. Both lent their voices to singing in the a cappella chorus and their support to athletics; Marcia as a cheerleader and David as an athlete. During her junior and senior years, Marcia was an assistant editor for the annual. David also, during those years, was a member of the Student Council and filled the office of Vice President his final year. Another of their similarities is that neither's grades have suffered from their participation in their activities. This is the mark of the best-all-around student.

David and Marcia tack important class and club announcements on the school bulletin board.

Classmates Elect Valentine Monarchs

Great excitement was lent to the week of February 14 by the contest for Valentine King and Queen. This annual event, sponsored by the Junior Class, pits candidates from each class in a race to see who can collect the most votes, each penny representing a vote. Projects ranging from a candy sale to a student band program were used by each class to make money. Finally, on the night of February 13, Robin Sheumaker and Bill Wilfong, Freshman representatives, were crowned as Valentine King and Queen. Also crowned that night were the winners from the elementary classes, Prince Danny Watts and Princess Carol Humphries of Mrs. Chambliss' first grade.

Students set up booths in the hall like this one to raise money to elect their candidates.

Through their class's competition, Robin Sheumaker and Bill Wilfong became the King And Queen of Hearts.

Seniors Rate Above Average

Nancy Wooten, Valedictorian

Stephen Kendrick, Salutatorian

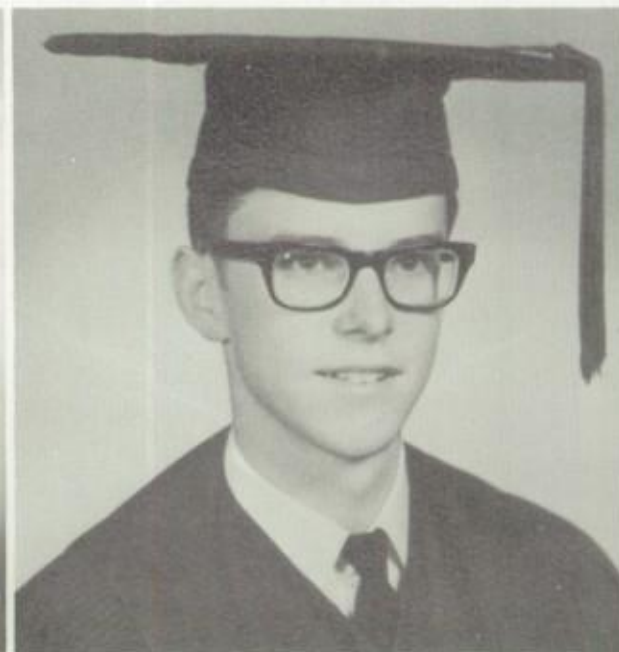

Due to their ability in academics, these seniors ranked in the upper one-fourth of their class. Several have received scholarships during high school. With high school transcripts and competition in various tests, several have been offered scholarships to many mid-south and south-eastern colleges. The caliber of these students attest to the excellency of the faculty and curriculum at Harding Academy.

Athletes Star On Court And Field

Although teamwork is the clue to a successful team, experienced and expert players are a necessity. This year, Duane Priest, tackle for the football team, was voted as the outstanding lineman by the coaches. Bobby Kleier, (left) likewise was selected by the basketball coaches as the year's most valuable player. Both seniors have lent their efforts to their respective teams to boost them to winning seasons.

Cheerleader Captains Nancy Wooten and Teresa Brewer boost enthusiasm at the Lions' victory over Olive Branch in overtime.

Enthusiasm and pep were instilled in the student body by this year's cheerleading squad. Working hard at Cheerleading Clinic last summer, they distinguished themselves by winning 3 ribbons and returned well prepared to lead our Lions to victory. Their new routines and spirit stick generated spirit at the pep rallies and helped convince both players and fans that "Harding is too tough."

Spirit And Skill Team Up

Hard practice, as illustrated below by Walter Hedge, resulted in brilliant play as demonstrated at the left by Steve Jones who handily scrambles for more yardage. Weight lifting started early last year to prepare the Lions for this season.

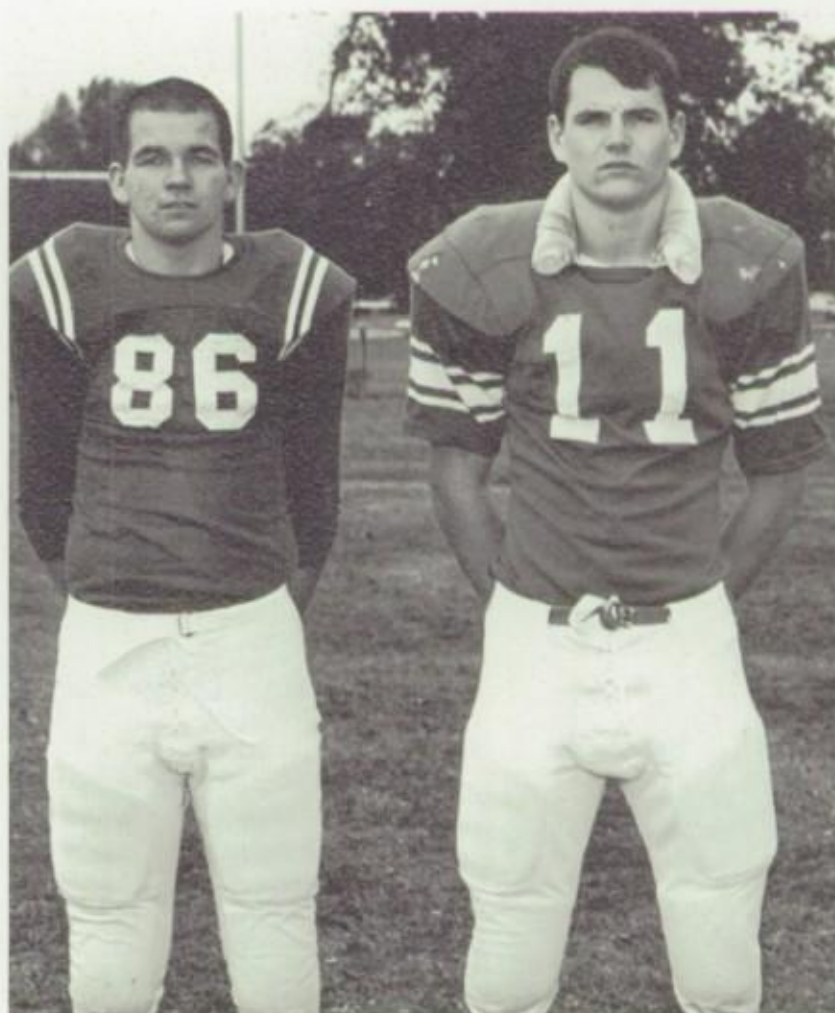

Defensive team: T. Stiles, corner; R. Parnell, halfback; M. Newman, end; B. Sanderson, Tackle; J. Almond, guard;

B. Morgan, linebacker; H. Bodiford, halfback; J. McCarter, guard; J. Dean, tackle; G. Nabors, end; R. Snow, corner.

To Produce Successful Season

Above: Captains Lonnie Whitaker (64) and Duane Priest (70) were injured during the season and Steve Jones (11) and Lynn Hodge (80) were elected as replacements. Right: Tommy Murphree (86) was the Lion's place kicker while Steve Jones (11) did the honors when the team had to punt.

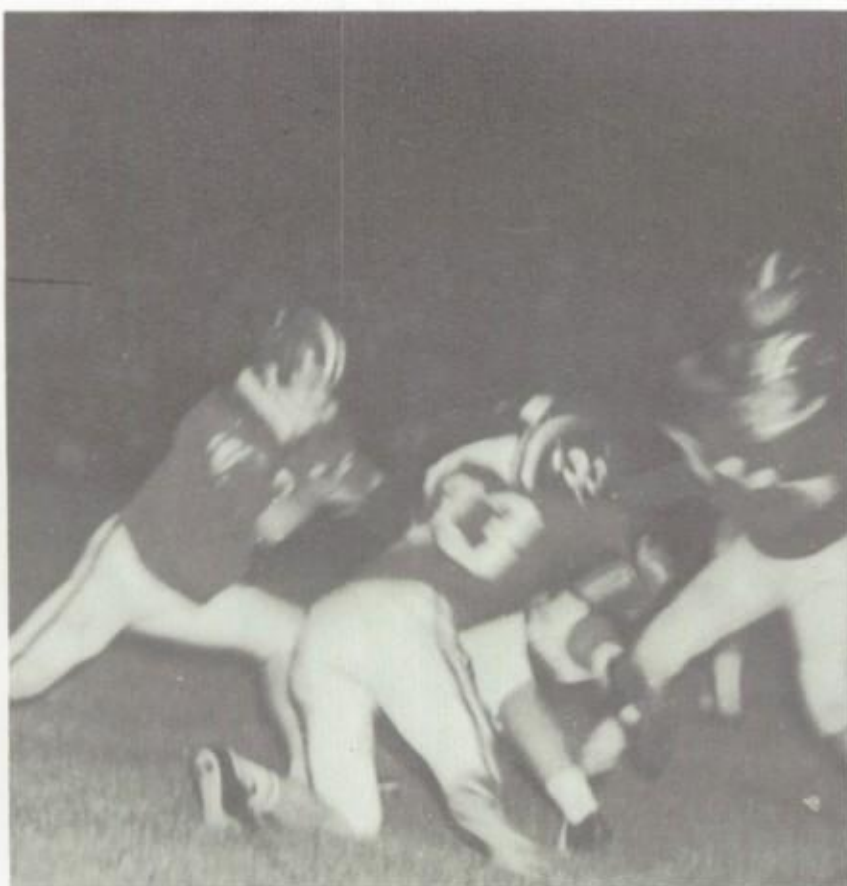

Galloping on another touchdown scamper is Steve Jones, after breaking away from his rugged Munford Wildcat pursuers. Jones regularly came through in a clinch situation to spark a Lion offensive drive.

Perspiration Packed Practices

Converging on a rushing oponent. Earl Thompson, Jerry Sutton, and Harold Bodiford down him for a loss.

The 1966 football season started for the Lions long before the first game. Some 40 boys responded when Coaches May and Outlaw called for players early in the spring. Mimeographed sheets of plays were passed out and studied during the skull sessions that followed. Then began the toughening up program with a daily date with the weights, leg press machine and the "blaster", a gadget to teach linemen to blast off of the line. By the time the first game rolled around the team was whittled down to fighting trim. Valuable experience was gained during the course of the season, the highlights of which were victories over Joiner, Ark. at Homecoming and Madison Academy in Huntsville, Ala.

Lynn Hodge is downed by the opponents after getting a needed gain for the hard-fighting Lions.

Senior halfback Earl Thompson rambles for an easy T.D. with excellent protection from Tommy Stiles.

Produce Gridiron Ground Gainers

Tommy "the toe" Murphree boots the ball for another point with Jerry Rubio holding Tommy proved a great asset to the team with his field goals and after-touch-down conversions contributing vitally to Harding scores.

In Our Varsity

Bobby Kleier tips in the ball for 2 more points as an opponent marvels.

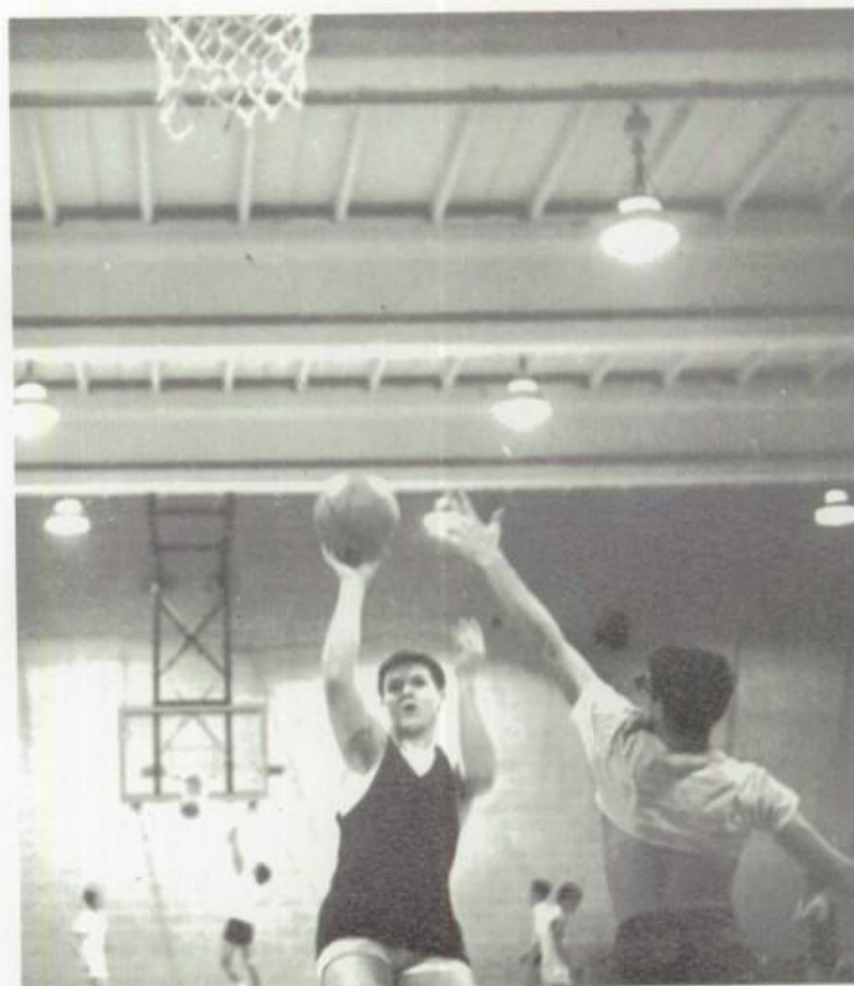

Steve Jones accumulates two more points in Harding's victory over Westside.

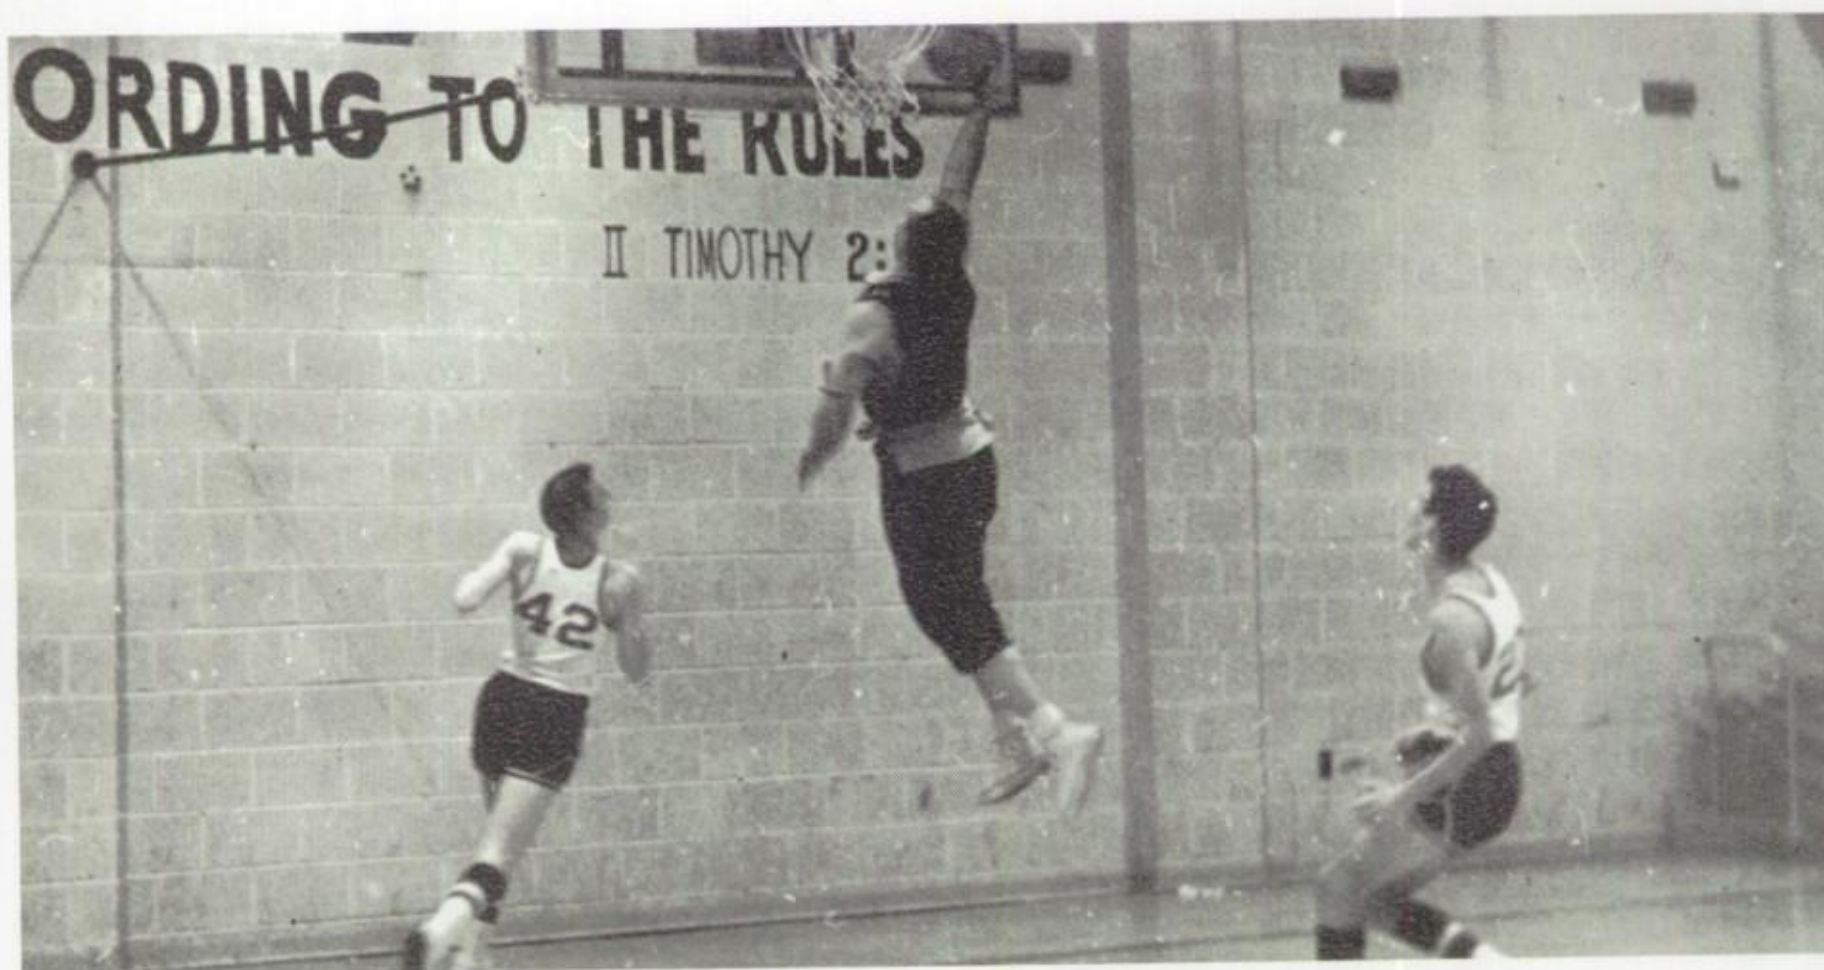

Co-captains, Hal Gates and Bobby Kleier sparked the Lions on to victory.

Another day of practice prepared the Lions for victory as Billy Hubbard and John Scott scrimmaged.

Teamwork Pays Off

As a prelude to the '66-'67 season the Lions romped the faculty in our varsity-faculty game.

Consistent high scoring by Bobby Kleier, here shooting for two points, boosted the Lions record.

Is it ballet? No. But it is another basket for the Lions.

Freshmen Are Victorious

Jerry Rubio led the Freshman team in scoring as he attempts two more.

This year, for the first time, Harding Academy had a freshman basketball squad. Since the freshman couldn't participate in junior high athletics, this program has given them the experience they need for Senior ball. Coached by Mr. David Simpson, the team had a very good seasonal record. Outstanding members of the squad were Steve Bowie and Jerry Rubio consistently scoring well, and Richard Snow and Ricky Betts rebounding.

Cubs Show Promise

Coach Bill Vander Linden (left) worked very hard with these basketball boys this year. The boys were divided into "A" and "B" teams and went up against some pretty stiff competition. The boys worked hard and truly showed promise.

Front row, left to right: J. Lewis, T. Oldham, D. Gillespie, J. Jackson, H. Hutchison, R. McClure, J. Corkren, D. Sullins. Second row: E. Gattis, B. Giardina, R. Peeler, M. Sites, B. Smith, G. Richardson, L. Kee, B. Stanley,

Cubs Gain Experience

This year throughout the Junior High football season, Coach Walt Mays worked with a small group of boys who had both desire and hustle. Many of the seventh grade boys, playing for the first time, showed a lot of good football material for next year. Some of the boys entering high school next year, plan to go out for Senior High football and begin the season with their past experience.

Coach Walt Mays continued to encourage his determined Cubs throughout the season.

While The Junior Cheerleaders Encouraged

This year's junior high cheerleaders proved to be an enthusiastic, hard-working group. Their spirit was carried to every home and provided the team with the lift they needed to pull through.

Led by co-captains Betty Wooten and Cindy Cooper, these girls put in many long hours of hard work. Behind every game and every pep rally went strenuous preparation. Even though they worked behind the scenes, their support was often a vital factor in the success of their team.

The Junior High cheerleaders showed spirit throughout the season and worked to keep enthusiasm behind the Cubs.

Row One: B. Hubbard, E. Thompson, S. Jones, Row Two: B. Kleier, R. Baggett, A. Moltz. Row Three: M. Newman, G. Nabors, R. Crider. Row Four: D. Priest, J. Graham, H. Gates. Row Five: L. Whitaker, J. Morgan, L. Hodge.

"H" Club Is Tough

Our "H" Club is the organization which honors all boys who have excelled and lettered in sports. The standard for membership are set by the coaches, one of which is the sponsor. These men in the "H" Club are responsible for purchasing gifts for the coaches and cheerleaders at the annual athletic banquet. The Vice President must be a Junior and will assume the Presidential duties in his Senior year, insuring sound leadership.

Our Auditorium Provides The

Symbol Of Our Growth

Epilogue

As this, the last page of the 1967 Shield leaves our cluttered staff room and begins its long journey to and from our publishers, it is a time for looking backwards over our year at M.H.A.

It has been a year of growth for Harding Academy. The student enrollment was larger than at any time in the past. A new location at the White Station Church of Christ was added to our two campuses at Cherry Road and Whitehaven. Our goal in the Expansion Program has been brought within reach, and we can anticipate the construction of the auditorium very soon. Our faculty is becoming increasingly larger and better qualified. These accomplishments are signs of our physical growth.

There are other areas of growth which are of equal importance. School spirit flourished, and students enthusiastically backed the athletic program, which was the most successful in Harding's history. Student activities increased in number and improved in caliber, better helping individuals to broaden their interests and make new friends. These are indications of our social development.

Perhaps the most memorable aspect of the year is that which is intangible, the emotional part. There is the nervousness of first day, meeting new friends and listening to Mr. Bowie read the Handbook. Then there comes the pleasant feeling of belonging, the familiarity of school routine, accented occasionally with special occasions like a tournament ball game or a snowy day when school is dismissed early. Finally, joyous anticipation of the summer vacation arrives, followed by nostalgic thoughts of departing friends.

Now is the time for looking forward, also. Excitement rises as graduation approaches and heralds the departing of another class, the end of another segment of Harding's history. Seniors look ahead to the various opportunities confronting them. Underclassmen dream of next year and another rung up their educational ladder. The Administration looks forward toward the vision of a constantly improving school. At this time we are, as always, dreaming on toward our next goal, whatever it may be. This dreaming is the first step toward the reality of growth.

Our book this year has been built around our growth, as a school, and as individuals. This growth will continue, in the future, as in the past. The Shield has attempted to catch time for a moment, to stop it, and preserve for you the special memories that accompanied the school year.

We wish to take this opportunity to express appreciation to several people who assisted the Staff with the production of the Shield. Thanks go to our three advisors, Miss Potter, Mrs. Beasley, and Mrs. Ross, who gave freely of their time and efforts throughout our several deadlines. Miss Linda Williams, a first-year faculty member, volunteered to organize our elementary section, which proved no easy task. We are grateful to all firms and individuals who supported us through buying advertisements, and we encourage you to patronize their establishments. Finally—special thanks go to Mr. John Hugh "Jackie" Boone, whose timely assistance helped us meet our final deadline.

Having given vent to our sentiments, we now urge you to examine your Shield. Meanwhile, we have a Staff Room to clean up.
